1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the “right to exclude” granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 22-29 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-19 of U.S. Patent No. 7,377,386. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because it would have been obvious in view of the claims of the patent to construct the device claimed in claims 22-29 herein, for the purpose of facilitating the construction of a more economical device.
3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 22-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The limitation “bend inwards lengthwise” as now recited in claim 22, and as now argued by applicant to avoid the prior art, is vague. Claim 22 does not define what direction is considered “inwards”. Nor does the claim define the direction considered to be “lengthwise”.

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 22-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Li or Kunimune et al. The rejections are incorporated herein in their entirety from the two previous office actions by reference. As to the amendments made to claim 22, note the rejection for indefiniteness above. The clips of Li and Kunimune are at least inherently capable of being bent in directions that could reasonably be considered to meet the requirement for “inwards lengthwise”. For example only, applicant’s argument that the prior art clips bend outwardly is noted. On the other hand at least the rear portions of the clips can be said to bend inwardly as front portions are said to bend outwardly, even considering applicant's definition of the outward direction, which as pointed out above, is not defined in the claim. The clips can also be bent in other directions that can be said to meet the limitations "inwards lengthwise".

7. Claims 28-29 avoid the prior art of record.

8. Applicant's arguments filed 12/5/08 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Note the comments above. As to the Double Patenting rejection applicant's argument that the later filed application has now been issued is noted. As the applicant's argument is understood by the examiner, the issuing of US Patent No. 7,377,386 obviates the need for a Terminal Disclaimer. On the other hand the examiner is unaware of any Rule or other authority that supports this argument. The Double Patenting rejection is not to be made in only the later filed of one or more conflicting applications. Longstanding examining practice requires the rejection to be made in all of the relevant applications. Moreover, obviating the rejection by way of a Terminal Disclaimer in one application, such as the later filed application, does not automatically have the same effect in the other applications, again as is well settled. Moreover, the use of the Terminal Disclaimer is but one method of avoiding the rejection. Clearly, the claims could also be drafted or amended so that they are not obvious over one another.

9. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Jacob K. Ackun Jr. whose telephone number is (571)272-4418. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday through Friday 8.30AM-5.00PM.
